

Big Love!

Your Ultimate Spring Wish List

- Secret
- Style
- Finds
- Glowing Skin
- Flirty
- Trends

Stars' Personal Wedding Albums

Closet CPR

Tricks to Beat Those Wardrobe Blahs

Best Hair Ever

How Reese, Eva & Jen Get Their Hair to Do That

Halle!

Her Key to Finding Happiness at Last

February 2008 InStyle.com

Best Place for a COZY WEEKEND

Winvian, Morris, Connecticut

WHY When it comes to throwing the ultimate weekend get-together, this new 113-acre resort is the place. The heart of the property is a restored colonial farmhouse, filled with antiques, but guests stay in 18 lavish cottages—each boasting a unique design scheme and at least one open fireplace. One pick: Stable, a duplex with a sunken bathtub.

WHAT TO DO Plenty of outdoor activities, like hiking and antiquing, but you may want to stick close to Winvian's spa (facials with top U.K. aesthetician Eve Lom's products) and fabulous restaurant (the chef trained under Alain Ducasse).

WOW! Bonfire yoga happens on cooler summer and fall nights; in warmer weather, Good Night Moon yoga takes place under the stars.

Leather-bound classics, Nutmeg Books, $20-$100; 860-482-9696.

BRING IT BACK Furniture from the historic town of Woodbury (once home to American antiques dealer Wayne Pratt); a first edition from a nearby antiquarian book dealer, like Nutmeg Books in Torrington; maple syrup tapped at a local farm.

BOOK IT 860-567-9600

Best Place for LAZY BEACH TIME

Rosewood Mayakobá, Mexico

WHY Located on the super-hot Riviera Maya, which has drawn the likes of Tom Cruise and Katie Holmes, Rosewood Mayakobá has 128 suites, which are actually freestanding villas with luminous bathrooms and private plunge pools. It's also eco-minded: Building materials are indigenous, and guests can navigate the property's network of freshwater canals via electric boats.

WHAT TO DO Visit the Mayan ruins of Tulum; have dinner in the beach town of Playa del Carmen (try the hip Glass Bar/Di Vino); snorkel in underwater caves (cenotes); or book a treatment at the Rosewood's spa, which occupies its own little island.

WOW! A "Tequila library" offers a variety of bottles instead of books.

BRING IT BACK A string hammock from Tulum for lounging; beauty products, like scented candles and linen spray, made with local ingredients, such as tropical wood and coconut, from chic eco-retreat Coqui Coqui (coquicoquispa.com).

BOOK IT 888-767-3966

Best Place for a SHOPPING SPREE

Villa Mangiacane, Tuscany, Italy

WHY You'll feel as if you stumbled onto a Bernardo Bertolucci set at this retreat, with its sculpture garden and gnarled olive grove. The 26 guest rooms are located in two villas, but romantics should stay in the 16th-century main villa, whose loggia is decorated with historic frescoes. You can request to have dinner in a new spot each night (try the dreamy vineyard).

WHAT TO DO Florence is a short drive away—spend the day shopping at the city's hottest fashion emporium, Luisa via Roma, and Loretta Caponi for exquisite lingerie, then head to the roof of Hotel Continentale, where the Ferragamos go for sunset cocktails.

WOW! Michelangelo was consulted on the Mangiacane villas, designed for the Machiavelli family.

BRING IT BACK In Florence, find hand-finished leather gloves from the family-run Madova shop; soaps from the historic Santa Maria Novella pharmacy; a bottle of Mangiacane wine (the property produces merlot and Chianti).

BOOK IT steinhotels.com/mangiacane

Villa Mangiacane Chianti Classico, Italian Wine Merchants, $23; 212-473-2323.